Predict 15.6 percent multiplier for GC

By GARY SCHNEIDER

of the Press-Record

Granite City residents already concerned about increases in the assessments of their homes have one more surprise coming as a 15.6 percent multiplier is being projected for the township.

Chouteau Township residents also face a 22 percent multiplier, the Press-Record has learned. The proposed multiplier is 1.22.

On the other hand, Nameeki Township taxpayers may be pleasantly surprised to learn that a negative multiplier of nearly 15 percent is under consideration for their township, unless the Madison County Board of Review decreases too many assessments. A multiplier of .8529 is under consideration, study shows.

Venice Township also will have a negative multiplier, decreasing their assessments nearly two percent. A multiplier of .9814 is suggested there, sources confirm.

The effect of a multiplier on a home assessment may be determined by multiplying the assessment times the multiplier. In the case of a $30,000 home, assessed at $10,000 (one-third of market value), the multiplier of 1.1561 in Granite City would raise the assessment from $10,000 to $11,561. This is the amount against which tax rates will be applied for collection next summer.

County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton told the Press-Record Friday that he feels "The Board of Review will find it necessary to raise the total assessment of Granite City by a multiplier of 1.1561," which is nearly a 16 percent increase in the assessments, against which the rates for taxes to be collected next summer are applied.

The multiplier assessed against Granite City Township last year (collected last summer) was 15.81 percent or 1.1581.

Granite City Township Tax Assessor Von Dee Cruse said he is aware that a 15.61 percent multiplier is under consideration by the Board of Review and threatened to "oppose it 100 percent."

Cruse called the proposed multiplier "a very, very unfair thing," and stated, "I don't know what my recourse could be, but if there is a legal recourse, I'm going to object."

He will throw property up over what the real value will be. I never objected to multipliers before because I knew we were low, but this year, we have totally reassessed every home to the required one-third of its market value and a multiplier is totally unfair," Cruse contended.

Barton said he feels the multiplier is necessary to comply with state law. He said the overall assessment of Granite City Township raised only 2.3 percent in the re-evaluation and he believes the assessments now are only 28.81 percent on the average of the last three years, while state law calls for the assessments to be 33.33 percent, or one-third of the market value of each piece of property.

He said the multiplier is "already in the works," and will change only if the Board of Review changes too many assessments during the board's hearings on assessment protests.

The assessed valuation of Granite City Township was $151,697,090 in 1980, minus all the new improvements, which totaled $820,860. "That leaves $150,876,230. In 1979, the assessment for the township was $146,504,750."

"That means this year's assessment is only a 2.96 percent increase. We needed considerably more than that, to bring values to 33.33 percent and the Granite City Township assessor did not," Barton contended.

He predicted, "The Board of Review will find it necessary to raise the total assessment of Granite City by a 1.1561 multiplier. That will hold, unless there is a big increase or decrease by protests before the Board of Review."

"I believe that the 1.1561 multiplier is

Assessors had warning —Barton

"They went into this with their eyes open," Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton said of township tax assessors Friday, as he announced assessment multipliers for Granite City and Chouteau Townships.

As detailed elsewhere in today's Press-Record, Granite City's assessments, announced last week, will probably be multiplied by 1.1561 and Chouteau Township assessments will be multiplied by 1.22, while the other two Quad-City area townships will have negative multipliers (reducing the assessments). Nameeki Township having a multiplier of .8529 and Venice township having a multiplier of .9814.

The multipliers could change, depending on the actions of the Madison County Board of Review in hearings on assessment protests. Barton said the township assessors were told last June what their multipliers would be, unless they raised the assessments in their townships an equal amount.

"All 24 township assessors in

Only followed the law —Cruse

Following is a statement released Friday by Granite City Township Tax Assessor Von Dee Cruse in response to an assessment protest movement underway in at least one ward.

Cruse announced that the new property values for Granite City Township have been finalized and notices are in the mail.

"As assessor, I want to make it clear that we want your input at this point. If you find you have information bearing on the value of your property that you have reason to believe has not been taken into account, this will be the time to air it.

"The same goes for any clerical error or miscalculation. There will be an office appeal procedure, if you find you are still in disagreement about your fair market value."

"The property owner has 30 days after the legal publication of assessments, or until January 28, 1981, to file a complaint. We would be more than willing to help fill out the proper forms."

"The tax equalization program

$33,000 FIRE Friday at 2433 E. 24th St., which required approximately five hours to extinguish. The fire started in a Christmas tree in the upstairs apartment of Lois Bopp and spread through the roof into a false attic between the former flat roof and the present truss roof. The truss roof slowly collapsed, making it difficult to reach the fire, a spokesman said. A transformer in one of the three fire trucks used to fight the fire burned up, causing approximately $100 to $300 damage.

$33,000 fire Friday

Fire in a building at 2433 E. 24th St., caused an estimated $33,000 damage. Friday and Granite City firemen fought the blaze from 8:10 a.m. until after 1 p.m.

The fire started in a Christmas tree in the upstairs apartment of Lois Bopp, apparently the result of faulty lighting on the tree.

Flames spread to two rooms in the upstairs apartment and through the roof, where it was trapped between the building's original flat roof and a truss roof which had been added on the top. The top roof slowly collapsed during the firefighting, making it difficult for firemen to reach. The flames, a spokesman said.

Two pumpers and the new Telesquirt truck were used.

The building is owned by William Ellsworth of Vandalia. Damage was estimated at $25,000 to the building and $8,000 to its contents.

During the firefighting, the wiring in a transformer of the number one pumper burned up, causing damage estimated between $100 and $300.

'80 traffic deaths up 123%

By HARRY BARNES

of the Press-Record

Although the number of persons injured in traffic accidents decreased substantially during 1980, the number of traffic fatalities increased dramatically by 123 percent during the year.

Traffic statistics compiled by the Press-Record shows that 29 persons were killed or died as a result of Quad-City accidents during the past year.

During 1979, 13 deaths were caused by traffic accidents occurring in this area or involving local victims in other areas of the country.

The statistics cover only accidents in which fatalities or injuries occurred and do not include property damage accidents.

Higher fatality listings in this area during 1980 are shown particularly in January, August and September. Five persons died in accidents in January, seven in August and six in September. Since September, there have been no fatalities recorded in this area.

In the previous year of 1979, four persons died in January accidents, but there were none in August and there was only one recorded in September 1979.

Actually, the number of injury accidents increased during the 12 months to a total of 593, compared to 536 accidents during the 1979 year. This is an increase of 9.6 percent.

At the same time, the number of persons injured in those accidents is fixed in the statistics at 531, compared to 683 during all of 1979, or a sizeable reduction of 22 percent.

While five persons died in fatalities in January, there were none in February or March and only in April four persons were killed.

During May two persons died in accidents, while three were killed in June. There were two traffic deaths in July, followed by the total of 13 during August and September.

The number of injury accidents, the number of persons injured and fatalities, in that order, were as follows:

January 20-32-5; February 33-40-7; March 27-38-0; April 34-33-4; May 44-62-2; June 21-43-3; July 31-39-2; August 31-44-7; September 35-45-4; October 50-53-0; November 36-43-0; December 28-39-0.

Bus trip from Arch for Jan. 22 march

Buses from Illinois and Missouri filled with pro-life supporters seeking a human life amendment will be leaving this area for Washington, D.C., at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 21.

The group will be taking part in the eighth "march of life" and lobbying activities to mark the date of the 1973 U.S. Supreme Court decision. The ruling legalized abortions for the entire nine months of pregnancy, the group contends.

It will be the sixth march in Washington for many Illinoisans. Those who have made the pilgrimage before have found it to be "an inspiration, giving them courage to continue the struggle for the rights of unborn children," a spokesman said.

It is hoped that the total turnout will equal or exceed last year's gigantic march, during which 100,000 marchers participated.

An estimated 400 to 600 people from about 30 pro-life organizations in Illinois and Missouri plan to leave from the Gateway Arch.

"We think pro-lifers will flock to Washington in great numbers again. The American people, as indicated by the 1980 election, will no longer tolerate the status quo which has meant the sacrifice of millions of innocent, unborn children," according to Felicia Goeken, president of Illinois Federation for Life, the Illinois sponsor for the Washington march.

involved the appraisal of all real estate in Granite City Township in order to bring about uniformity in property valuations and to assure all property owners that they are paying only their fair share of the cost of essential community services. Equalization is not intended to raise revenue; its purpose is to value all property by the same standards at the same point in time.

"It has been 22 years since the last complete revaluation of all real estate in Granite City Township.

Meanwhile, constantly changing economic conditions have caused incentives to develop. The only solution to this problem was to reappraise all real estate to bring assessment records up to date with present-day values. I believe the ultimate goal of any taxation program should be fairness—that is, each and every property owner should pay his or her fair share of the cost of important community services. Nothing more.

"In closing, I would like to remind each homeowner that he is entitled to at least one or more exemptions. If you have any questions please come to my office where we would be happy to go over your assessment with you to show how your market value was determined. In order to accommodate the public, we have extended our office hours this week from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. The assessor's office telephone number is 877-6150. Cruse's statement concluded.

Madison County were advised of their multiplier, if they did nothing to raise assessments," Barton said. Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse was warned that a multiplier of 1.1904 would be assessed if nothing was done to raise assessments. He raised the assessment of the township about 2.98 percent, so the 15.81 percent multiplier comes out pretty close," Barton said. Similar figures were projected in June for all townships and the final multipliers reflect the projections, minus the increases in reassessments done during 1980, Barton said.

"Those assessors who are getting multipliers know, or should have known, that they were getting multipliers and about how much, if they compared our June projections with the increases in the reassessments for their townships during 1980," Barton added.

Debtor exemption revision proposed

State Representative Alan J. Greiman (D-Skokie) and John Dunn (D-Deatur) have prefilled a comprehensive reform of the debtor exemption laws of Illinois, on the same day that a 1980 law became effective.

The new law denies people in debt the right to retain some of their property. The Greiman-Dunn bill seeks to amend the new Illinois law, which went into effect Jan. 1, 1981; they want to continue the rights of Illinois citizens under the Federal Bankruptcy Act of 1978.

Rep. Greiman commented, "At a time when most legislative bodies and public officials are trying to ease the burden of working people caught between the rock of rising inflation and the hardplace of rising unemployment, the Illinois General Assembly and the governor have bowed to finance companies and small loan people."

"In 1979, Congress amended the Bankruptcy Act by providing that certain property be exempt from the reach of creditors so that people might be better able to have a second chance," Rep. Dunn emphasized. "What formerly was usury is now the going interest rate. It is unfortunate in these times to see legislation which will effectively deprive not only dead-beats but worthy individuals and businesses—caught in our current economic squeeze—of any hope for a new start."

The new federal act allowed a bankrupt to claim as exempt from creditors items of personal property of less than $200, $1,200 in equity in a car; health aides; tools of a trade up to $700 in value; child support; Social Security; pension rights; and homestead rights up to $7,500 in a home, as well as limited rights to the proceeds of personal injury. The act also permitted states to substitute their own local state exemptions for the new federal exemptions. The Illinois General Assembly in 1980 passed SB 1728, which retained Illinois precinct committeemen and township officials are in the process of attempting to distribute the forms to every home in the township.

"I want everyone to obtain forms and file them with the Board of Review. We will try to get the forms out within 10 days, but for those who do not receive them, they will be available at the township office, 4250 Highway 162, or at my office, 78 Cambridge Drive, day or night."

"The new assessments are grossly unfair, so I want to be sure that everyone gets a protest form and has an opportunity to appear before the Board of Review."

Bartow warned that if too many of the assessments are reduced by the Board of Review, the multiplier will have to increase. Alderman Paul Ray Bowler of the Seventh Ward in Granite City, who is organizing a ward protest to the new assessments, called it a "no-win situation."

Bowler told the Press-Record, "If you do nothing, your assessments remain high and you are socked with a higher multiplier. You can't win."

Bowler is inviting all residents of the Seventh Ward to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues, to discuss the new assessments.

Bowler said he will have figures available showing the assessment increase for each parcel of property in the ward and will have the parcel identification number for each parcel, which is necessary when filing a tax protest form.

The effect of the proposed 1.1561 multiplier on assessments in Granite City Township also will be discussed, Bowler said.

Cruse said he is extending his office hours from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. this week so that anyone who wishes to discuss his new assessment may do so with a member of the assessor's staff. Corrections will be made on the spot, if homeowners can show that their homes have been assessed based upon faulty information, or if they can show the assessment is too high in relation to similar parcels of property in the neighborhood.

Cruse said there is nothing his office can do about the proposed multiplier other than to object to it, but he said the Illinois legislature should step in to prevent the state from imposing multipliers when a state inspector believes the assessment of any county is too low.

Either the state or the county, or both, may impose multipliers, if they feel assessments are too low. If the county does not impose multipliers on townships, the state will impose a multiplier on the entire county, he said.

"I have been in this 16 years and I still haven't found out how they determine these multipliers."

Informing that there is legislation under consideration in Springfield to remove the school tax from the property tax, Cruse commented, "This would be the biggest thing that could happen to local government."

While some replacement tax would be necessary to support the schools, Cruse feels removing school aid from property tax may be one way to help keep people in their homes.

Meet here on quality of air

New air quality rules for part of this region will be discussed at a meeting in Granite City on Wednesday.

The meeting is to be at Charlie's Restaurant, beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Progress toward such rule changes is being credited to the efforts of IMAGE (Involvement and Management) Advance Growth and Employment.

A study of air quality standards in the Illinois counties of Monroe, St. Clair and Madison was completed this winter and indicates positive results, an IMAGE spokesman said.

New levels proposed from the study, if allowed by elected officials and the governor and approved by the federal Environmental Protection Agency, would be the highest levels allowed in the nation.

Governor James R. Thompson ordered the study in 1979 after IMAGE representatives met with him and said that restrictive air quality controls were hindering increased industrial development and employment in the area.

IMAGE contends that the current standards limit development in the entire area while the main area of pollution may be concentrated from "a small strip of industrial firms between East St. Louis and Alton." Auto exhaust also is blamed for air pollution.

"The first thing we want to emphasize," says IMAGE Co-Chairman Robert Weiss, business manager of Bricklayers Local 65, Edwardsville, "is that we're 100 percent for clean air. But we also have concerns for the future growth of this area and the employment of our people."

"Reclassifying the area from Class II to Class III, as IMAGE is striving for, would come close to doubling the current allowable output of sulfur dioxide levels. This does not call for the issuance of any more particulate pollution in the area, however," Weiss said.

"Sulfur dioxide is an air contaminant which is released when fossil fuels like coal and oil are burned or processed. Particulate pollution is airborne dust or substances, such as flyash, given off from the burning coal."

"Relaxed air standards would help our coal industry as well," contends Weiss. "Why should we pay a premium price for coal from other parts of the country when the richest deposits are right here in Illinois? But because of the strict standards, we can't burn our coal even if it is scrubbed."

The relaxed air rules would not apply to the Quad-City area.

After his meetings with IMAGE, Gov. Thompson approved $156,000 for the study.

IMAGE also credits the efforts of State Senator Sam Vadalabene, who encouraged the study.

The study is said to support what IMAGE had contended — the less densely populated areas of the three counties in question have been suffering because of the "blanket" restrictions due to nine non-credit courses during the winter quarter.

Illinois Bell to 'sell' its phones

Illinois Bell announced the outright sale, rather than leasing, of all design line telephones. Also, the company said its PhoneCenter Stores are now accepting Visa and Master Card as payment options.

In the past, residential customers who purchased design line phones owned only the shell; the phone company retained ownership and maintenance responsibility for the working parts. Phone prices under the new sales policy range from $89 for a rotary-dial Exeter model phone to $429 for the limited-edition Americana. The Illinois Commerce Commission has approved the new sales policy.

The Visa and Master Card can be used as payment for 19 design line models, maintenance contracts and Phone-Chek gift certificates. Illinois Bell is the fifth Bell System company to accept the cards — the others being Northwestern Bell, New York Bell, Ohio Bell and Bell of Pennsylvania.

Caroling, party for Troop 7

Christmas caroling and a yuletide party were among the holiday activities of Boy Scout Troop 7, sponsored by St. Joseph Catholic Church. The group met at the church for the annual party, planned and hosted by the Flaming Arrow Patrol. Parents of patrol members provided the refreshments. Games were played, including an indoor soccer match.

In the soccer contest, a team captained by Senior Patrol Leader Steve Kusmierczak Jr., won 6-3 Assistant Scoutmaster Mark Mainridge.

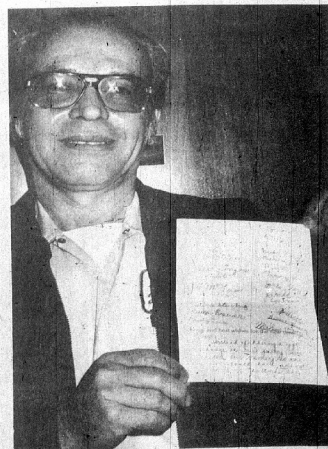

A clown act also was performed by Kusmierczak to entertain the youths.

Later the scouts went Christmas caroling at the homes of Richard Schierling, Jeff Kittel and Mike Brazel, troop members who were recovering from the flu.

Seek man who pointed handgun

Police are seeking a man aged 25 with black hair, beard and moustache who pointed a handgun at a Granite Cityan who was walking in the 3600 block of Ridgedale Avenue last week. The victim escaped by running to a nearby apartment and calling police.

The man being sought was driving a dark pickup truck. His clothing included a flannel shirt and cowboy hat. He was of medium build and was about five feet, ten inches tall.

A SPECIAL CARD received by Granite City Humane Officer Andy Chiappa is shown, bearing the signatures of 25 fifth grade students who gave money to Chiappa so the animals in the city's humane shelter could have special food Christmas Day. The children, who are in Mrs. Pat Prosser's class at Emerson School donated the money they would have used for a gift exchange to Chiappa for the animals, raising $20.50. Chiappa purchased red meat, which he served Christmas Day.

NOW WE'RE ALL YOU NEED.

If you're like most people, you've had your checking account at a bank where you got nothing in return for it, except a service charge.

On the other hand, you may have had your savings account at a savings and loan because you got higher interest. And you may have been using another institution for your home, car, or personal loans.

Now you can put all your financial activities under one convenient roof. Your nearby Illini Federal Savings and Loan Office.

IT PAYS TO CHECK WITH US.

After looking around, you may have discovered that many financial institutions in the area are going to pay interest on checking accounts. This may have misled you into thinking that all NOW Accounts are alike.

At Illini Federal, we offer

5 1/4% interest, compounded daily and paid monthly. But unlike some institutions, we're not trying to get the interest you earn back in service charges.

If you keep at least $200 in your NOW Account, you can write checks on it for free. If your balance does dip below $200, the charge is an easy-to-handle three dollars a month. At Illini, there are no transaction fees, no hidden charges, and no fooling.

NOW YOUR CHECKBOOK CAN KEEP UP WITH YOU

When You Know Who forgets to record a check, an emergency arises at the worst possible moment, or a once-in-a-lifetime bargain is available when you can least afford it, you'll be glad you have Illini Federal's NOW Account

Credit Reserve

It's a special loan service that lets you borrow up to $1,000, if you qualify. To use your credit reserve you either overdraw your NOW Account, or arrange to borrow on it in advance.

With an Illini Federal NOW Account and Credit Reserve, your checkbook will keep up with you. Even if it gets slightly unbalanced.

MAKE US YOUR FAMILY FINANCIAL CENTER.

Whether it's checking, savings, or loans for homes, cars, college or vacations, why go anywhere else? When Illini Federal is all you need.

Trojans roar to Centralia title

Dump Rams in final

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

CENTRALIA — Billy Papa was excited. Celebrating. He and his teammates. The diminutive substitute guard looked like he understood the significance of what his team had just done. "Hey man, we did it! We showed 'em." Then he saw the reporter standing to the side. "Hey man, the headlines better be THIS big in the paper!" he said, spreading his thumb and index finger about five inches apart.

Madison indeed had done it. The Trojans had shown the big boys they could play with them. In their first appearance ever, they won the championship of the Centralia Holiday Tournament. The oldest and perhaps most prestigious of all the prep Christmas tournaments. This one was the 38th annual affair.

Significance. The Madison title is dripping with it. The Trojans, a Class A team, were stepping out of their place in entering the Centralia Holiday Tournament after dropping the Freeburg tourney. But with some excellent shooting, hard rebounding and a little luck, they came away with the top prize. Madison was only the seventh team in the history of the tournament to win it in its first appearance. Also the first Class A team to win it since the beginning of the two-class system in 1972.

Madison coach Larry Graham has just about done it all. "This was almost as big as a state championship," he said. "I'm not sure my kids understand it yet, but they're beginning to now."

"The big school versus small school thing gave us incentive," he said. "But we'll probably get a little cocky over this thing now, we'll have to watch that."

But Madison, the smallest school in the tournament, has a right to be a little cocky. The Trojans stunned the field and came away with the big hardware. The title puts Madison in some pretty heady company. Last year, eventual Class AA state champion Chicago Marist won it, followed by the title. Winners in the past have been such schools as East St. Louis in 1972, Homewood-Flossmoore in 1973, Chicago Marist in 1975, Collinsville in 1976, Arthur Trout's Centralia team of 1944 and Dolph Stanley's undefeated state champion Taylorville team in 1943, which featured as players Ron Bontemps and present University of Michigan head coach Johnny Orr.

Madison's Morris Hughes added more hardware to his trophy case. He was named the Most Valuable Player in the tournament. In addition, teammates Patrick Hatter and Kerwin Stanley received All-Tournament honors. The list of players who have been named to the All-Tournament team in the past reads like a Who's Who of high school basketball. Here's a sample: Orr and Bontemps from Taylorville; Harlem Globetrotter Bobby Joe Mason from Centralia (four times); Rich Yunkus of Benton; Lloyd Batts of Thornton; Mill Wiley and Rusty Lisch (St. Louis Cardinal quarterback) of West; Rob Donbar of Benton; Willie Rogers of East St. Louis; Kris Jenner of Mascoutah and Russell Cross of Manley.

Graham. "But I thought both teams looked fatigued."

If either team was tired, Madison came from behind to edge East St. Louis in the semifinals while Mount Vernon blew out Edwardsville (see related stories). "I think we were more relaxed than they were," said Graham. "After winning two straight one-pointers, we had confidence."

"I don't think our kids understood the significance of winning this tournament, Mount Vernon did."

Indeed, The Rams didn't score a basket until the 4:49 mark of the first quarter. The baseline jumper by Scott Piper made the score 10-3, Madison.

But Mount Vernon had to work hard for its baskets. Madison made it look easy. Especially Clagget. With the score 12-5, he went on a six-point scoring spree that made it 18-5. But back came Mount Vernon.

"The Rams battled back time after time to close the gap. But the closest they could get was 24-22 at the 5:48 mark of the second quarter on a three-point play by Jeff Shaw. The next thing the Rams knew, however, it was 34-24."

The closest Mount Vernon could get to the Trojans after that was eight points, 36-30 at halftime. "Our kids never quit," said Law. "We cut the lead to eight, six points, but we couldn't get the job done."

How did Graham feel his team looked in its first Centralia Tournament appearance? "Oh, jeez," he said, shaking his head with a grin. "It was just an amazing effort. They (Mount Vernon) have a good team. (Continued on Page 9)"

CENTRALIA — Billy Papa was excited. Celebrating. He and his teammates. The diminutive substitute guard looked like he understood the significance of what his team had just done. "Hey man, we did it! We showed 'em." Then he saw the reporter standing to the side. "Hey man, the headlines better be THIS big in the paper!" he said, spreading his thumb and index finger about five inches apart.

Madison indeed had done it. The Trojans had shown the big boys they could play with them. In their first appearance ever, they won the championship of the Centralia Holiday Tournament. The oldest and perhaps most prestigious of all the prep Christmas tournaments. This one was the 38th annual affair.

Significance. The Madison title is dripping with it. The Trojans, a Class A team, were stepping out of their place in entering the Centralia Holiday Tournament after dropping the Freeburg tourney. But with some excellent shooting, hard rebounding and a little luck, they came away with the top prize. Madison was only the seventh team in the history of the tournament to win it in its first appearance. Also the first Class A team to win it since the beginning of the two-class system in 1972.

Madison coach Larry Graham has just about done it all. "This was almost as big as a state championship," he said. "I'm not sure my kids understand it yet, but they're beginning to now."

"The big school versus small school thing gave us incentive," he said. "But we'll probably get a little cocky over this thing now, we'll have to watch that."

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record

BREESE — When a team is winless, even the best performances may go unnoticed. The Granite City North Steeler basketball team came up with probably their best shooting effort of the year here Saturday. Sure, they're getting better, but they're still not winning.

The latest casualty, make that number nine, came from the Mater Dei Knights. Coming off a good second place showing in their own holiday tourney, the Knights humbled North, 61-49, despite a slow start.

Playing well against some tough competition during the tournament, Mater Dei could have taken North a little too lightly. What can you expect from an 0-8 team. But the Steelers have been trying to shed the "push-over" image and for the first eight minutes it was working.

North looked like a recreated ball club. In fact you could even have called them dead. The Steelers dropped in 24 shots in 43 attempts for a remarkable 56 percent. "We're hitting our shots a little better," said Steeler head coach Bill Ohlendorf. "It showed some of the big difference in our last couple of games."

It made all the world of difference in the opening frame. North was perfect with its first six shots which help build an eight point lead, 12-4. "I think Mater Dei was a little flat," said Ohlendorf. "We just took advantage of it."

The Steelers missed just two shots in the stanza and kept the lead. But it didn't take long for the Knights to rectify the problem. "They (Mater Dei) adjusted to our defense and that's all it took," said Ohlendorf. The Knights chalked up the last six tallies of the second quarter and North hit only three of 11 shots and would not see the lead again.

"We didn't look impressive," said Mater Dei head coach John Cavaleto. "We did do what we wanted to do. But I can't make them hustle and that's what we had a lack of in the first quarter."

Mater Dei took over the reigns of the hot shooters and connected on 11 of 15 to open the second half. With a substantial margin to make-up, North went to "get the ball at any cost" type of tactics.

Until then, the Knights had gone to the free throw line five times. In just the fourth quarter alone, Mater Dei attempted 10 free throws and came away with eight points. It only had to shoot the ball three times in the last eight minutes of the game.

"When you have to go after the basketball, you tend to foul people a little more," said Ohlendorf. The Steelers were whistled for 13 fouls compared to four for Mater Dei. "We didn't execute," added

Ohlendorf. "You have to be able to do this, to be a winner."

Although the Steelers hit very well from the floor, it was a one chance opportunity. If they missed, they weren't likely to get the rebound. On the other hand, Mater Dei had little trouble getting two of three shots in the offensive basket. The Knights out-muscled North 30-14, as Dan Beckemeyer pulled down 12 rebounds.

"Beckemeyer did a good job rebounding, especially on the offensive end," said Cavaleto. Beckemeyer grabbed eight rebounds that contributed to his game high 22 points. Tom Robben followed in double figures

Flyers bounce Collinsville

EAST ST. LOUIS — The East St. Louis Flyers edged Collinsville here Saturday 76-70. But head coach Coy Nunn wasn't too pleased. "We just set basketball back 50 years," he said afterward.

But nonetheless, the Flyers, whose lone loss in a twelve-game season was to Madison in the semifinals of the Centralia Holiday Tournament, were able to raise their mark to 3-0 in the Southwest Conference. Collinsville's Kahoks dipped to 0-2 in conference play and 7-5 overall after winning the consolation championship of the Carbondale Tournament last week. East St. Louis was third at Centralia.

Collinsville closed the gap to 63-62 with a little over five minutes left, but could get no closer.

The Kahoks were led in scoring by Jim McConkey with 20 points. Kent Parker added 18. The Flyers were paced by Tommy Johnson's 23 points. Robert Gordon scored 20 and Kevin McKinney had 22.

'Gavin Night' ruins Gehling's homecoming

By PETE HAYES

ST. LOUIS — For Granite Cityan Keith Gehling, starting defender for the Wichita Wings, it was a mixed homecoming here last night. Gehling, a former Granite City South star, indeed played before many hometown fans. But he was overshadowed a bit.

It turned out to be Tony Gavin Night in the St. Louis Steamers' 11-2 romp. Gavin scored five goals in the outburst, a club record.

Not only was Gavin's accomplishment good enough to set a new Steamer mark, it was also more than enough to break the Wings' streaks of two consecutive shutouts and 18 unanswered goals. But amazing enough, Gavin, a fan-pleaser from Glasgow, Scotland, could have scored two, maybe three more goals. The Steamers, who raised their record to 14-3 with the victory, made it look easy against the first-place team in the MISL's Western Division. The victory also kept the Steamers three and a half games ahead in the Central Division. Second-place Cleveland defeated Chicago 4-3 yesterday.

"How was that?" asked Gavin. "Five's enough, isn't it?" But the diminutive Scot wasn't the only star of the game. Give Steamer goalie Manny Schwartz some credit. He made 15 saves in the nets, many of which bordered on the impossible. The game was a turnaround from Friday's 6-5 loss at home to the Philadelphia Fever. In that one, the Steamers took a 4-1 lead, just like last night. But against Wichita, they made it stand up.

"We played the whole game tonight," said Steamer forward Don Ebert, a former Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougar.

"We played the whole 60 minutes," said Ebert. "We were hitting our shots a little better. He was able to control the ball when needed and in fact notched an assist on the Wings' first goal, scored by Steve Earle at the 12:22 mark of the first period, which made the score 2-1. But by the fourth quarter, Gehling looked fatigued and played only sparingly in the last period."

Gehling has an incredible success story with the Wings. Last season, he was runnerup for Rookie of the Year honors in the MISL, tied the league season and career record for most short-handed goals and was voted the top newcomer for the Wings. This season, he had two goals and one assist going into last night's game and had one game-winner. "Keith has already proved himself more than capable of playing on the professional level," said Wings head coach Roy Turner. "He has tremendous potential."

Even so, nobody would take the thunder from the Steamers last night. Don Ebert opened the scoring at the 5:01 mark on an assist by Ty Keough. Then Gavin started his spree after getting an assist from Steve Pecher.

In the second period, Gavin added his second goal at the 7:35 mark on an assist by Keough. Tony Bellinger made it 4-1 at the 14:41 mark after getting an assist from Emilio John.

In the second half, the Steamers broke it wide open. Gavin scored at the 4:26 mark and again at the 6:32 mark after getting assists from Pecher and Carl Rose. Keough then got into the act with a goal at 8:04 on an assist from Greg Makowski. John scored an unassisted goal at the 10:56 mark followed by the Wings' other goal of the game from Earl on an assist from Norman Piper on a power play at the 13:08 mark.

Ebert, Sam Bick and finally Gavin again, rounded out the St. Louis scoring.

The next action for St. Louis will be in Buffalo Friday night. Saturday afternoon at 1:05, the Steamers will host Hartford.

Trojans come back to edge East Side

CENTRALIA — The people who made up the pairings for the Centralia Holiday Tournament couldn't have done Madison a nicer favor than putting the Trojans in the same bracket as second-seeded East St. Louis. As if playing in the prestigious meet wasn't enough incentive, the Trojans needed only to look over at the opponents' bench here Wednesday afternoon in their semifinal game at the orange and blue of the Flyers to see red.

Madison came from behind in the fourth quarter to edge East St. Louis 75-74 and advance to the championship game against Mount Vernon.

"We love to beat East St. Louis," said Madison coach

Larry Graham. "And we don't do it that often. The kids didn't have any trouble getting up for this one." It was the second straight one-point victory for the Trojans, who edged Arlington Heights 72-71 Tuesday in quarterfinal game.

East St. Louis led by four points, 60-54 going into the fourth quarter, but the Trojans battled back and took advantage of some missed shots by East St. Louis. With the score 72-70 in favor of East St. Louis, Morris Hughes scored on a fingertip layup with 1:07 remaining in the game to tie it. With 35 seconds left, Charles Claggett scored a layup to give the Trojans the lead for good. A free throw by Patrick Hatter with 15 seconds left made it 75-72. East St. Louis' Tommy Johnson sank two free throws with nine seconds left to narrow the gap to one point, but the Flyers could get no closer.

Hughes scored a game-high 27 points for Madison, mostly on close-range shots or follow-up shots under the basket. Hatter scored 16 points for the Trojans in the winning effort. Claggett pumped in 14.

The game was won at the free throw line. Madison made 17 of 21 free throws, while East St. Louis managed only six of ten. In field goals, the Trojans made 29 of 63, while East St. Louis made 34 of 68 attempts.

Madison was more than able to hold its own on the boards against the Flyers. The Trojans actually outrebounded East Side 32-31. The Flyers were whittled for 15 personal fouls, Madison 11.

"It was a big one," said

Graham. "We could have given up, but we didn't."

Small-fry kickers to appear at games

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Steamers soccer team has recently kicked off its second season. This year over 500 budding soccer players, from 6 to 10 years old, will have a chance to play in the Checkerboard during the half-time of ten of the Steamers' home games.

The team, known as the Lil' Schnucks, will feature one player, from each Schnucks store, who will be chosen on the basis of his or her answer to a 25 words or less essay completing the sentence "I want to play on the Lil' Schnucks soccer team at half-time because

Each team, consisting of over 50 boys and girls, will play against members of area soccer teams and the Schnucks soldier.

Seven of the ten games in which the Lil' Schnucks will play are still remaining. They will be held Saturday, Dec. 27; Friday, Jan. 2; Saturday, Jan. 10; Friday, Jan. 16; Friday, Jan. 23;

Friday, Feb. 20; and Friday, Feb. 27. Game time is at 7:35 p.m. for all of the Steamers games, except for Jan. 10, which will begin at 1:05 p.m.

Official entry forms for the Lil' Schnucks soccer teams are available at all Schnucks stores. Entries must be received by Feb. 21.

Change in Milwaukee area papers

Post Newspapers announced last week it will reduce its Milwaukee suburban operation to two paid papers and three free shopping papers with a total circulation of about 70,000.

The two paid weekly papers are the Northwest Post with about 7,000 circulation and the West Allis Post Star with about 8,000 circulation. They will continue to be delivered on Thursday.

The West Allis Post Star has been the anchor newspaper of Post Newspapers since it entered the Milwaukee market in 1965. The Northwest Post was added in 1979 and has enjoyed rapid circulation growth. The two weeklies and three shopping papers will be staffed by about 25 persons.

Post will be publishing the Ad-ventages Tuesdays. They will be the Northwest Post Ad-ventages serving north-west Milwaukee, Brown Deer and Glendale; the West Allis Post Ad-ventages serving the West Allis area, and the new Berlin Post Ad-ventages serving the New Berlin and Elm Grove areas.

A spokesman said the newspapers were discontinued because of the current economic recession. They have experienced a decline in real estate, automotive and general classified advertising lineage during the past 12 months.

Because of the change, the employment of 38 fulltime employees and 100 parttime employees had been terminated.

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

DREW KARANDJEFF

Q. Interest-bearing checking accounts seem to be the rage in the banking world these days, although I don't know anyone who has one. Are they only checking accounts which earn interest, or is there something more to them?

A. Paycheck, or interest-bearing checking accounts are rather new. The federal legislation which permits banks to pay interest on checking accounts became effective January 1, 1981. The concept isn't really new, however. Some financial institutions in New England, New York and New Jersey have offered Paycheck accounts for several years through special legislation. And, there is a Paycheck account feature which is "something more." It is, of course, the fact that you are now able to earn interest on your checking account providing, in most cases, that you maintain a minimum, specified balance. For additional details on the new accounts, check with any of our bank officers.

Hefner allegedly damaged a Pontiac police car in a high speed chase that ended at about 1:30 a.m. New Year's day.

The chase started after police received a call that a parked car had been struck in the area by a vehicle similar to the one Hefner was driving.

Madison County Sheriff's deputies tried to set up a road block to stop him.

The chase basically was in a circle within a five block area of the intersection of Division Street and Central Lane.

As he was being cornered he skidded into a ditch.

He allegedly rammed his station wagon into a police car three times trying to get out of the ditch.

A series of films, entitled "Focus on Family," will be presented at the Nameoki United Methodist Church, starting this evening at 7 o'clock.

The public is invited to attend. However, children regardless of age will not be allowed in the sessions, according to Mrs. Cindy Keen, who is among those arranging the seven-week series. Baby-sitting service will be provided, she added.

All types of problems concerning marriage, children, discipline, Christian parenthood, families and finances will be reviewed during the series, highlighted by the renowned family expert, James C. Dobson, Ph.D.

Titles of the sessions, all to be held at the church from 7 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. on seven consecutive Mondays, include:

"Strong Willed Children"; "Shaping the Will Without Breaking the Spirit"; "Christian Fathering." Preparing For Adolescence—Part I, "Origin of Self Doubt" and Part II, "Peer Pressure and Sexuality."

What Wives Wish Their

Husbands Knew About Women—Part I, "The Lonely Housewife" and Part II, "Money, Sex and Children."

Mrs. Keen will lead a discussion on each topic following the film presentations.

Parents, husbands and wives without children, grandparents and other individuals who deal with youngsters, including teachers, will find something of value in the series, Mrs. Keen said.

Gov. Thompson expressed his hopes that more people will take part in November this year, and said he was grateful to Concovich for calling the contest to his attention.

Barbarians — and fools for rejecting the U.S. offer

Comment by Wall Street Journal — Ronald Reagan has struck the proper tone for our dialogue with the Iranians by calling them barbarians and kidnappers. Indeed, they are something even worse, by the lights of historical experience. They are fools.

Jimmy Carter presented them with an offer that any halfway intelligent hustler in a Persian bazaar would have snapped up with eyes beaming.

The president did nothing less than appropriate the legitimate claims of American companies and individuals for use as bargaining chips in this sordid game. The Iranians would also have gotten the return of $2.5 billion in frozen assets immediately, plus access to another $4 billion held in foreign branches of U.S. banks as soon as debt service to those banks was brought up to date.

And the U.S. agreed to freeze any assets of the family of the late shah it could lay hands on to give the Iranians a shot at recovering them.

The response to this from Tehran was another spate of gibberish from the current occupant of the prime ministry, Mohammed Ali Rajavi.

The gibberish, sorted out as nearly as possible constituted a rejection of the latest offer from the "Great Satan."

The accepted bazaar wisdom when such a thing happens is to withdraw the offer and walk away, which would seem to be the only honorable alternative the Iranians have left Mr. Carter.

What they don't seem to understand is that the next guy they will do business with is the one who has been calling them barbarians.

Mr. Carter would have fared far better with the mullahs from the very beginning if he had recognized them for what they were instead of encouraging them to think they had reasonable grievances against the U.S. and the shah.

People of their stripe take uncouthness as a sign of weakness and an invitation to strip off more skin.

It would have helped also to have recognized that all that chatter about Islamic purity was mostly nonsense.

Even the ayatollah himself seems to understand that his "students" are heavily infiltrated with Communists and there are plots within plots.

Next, the Iranian revolutionaries who fought off the Afghans storming the Soviet Embassy the other day; so much for Islamic unity.

Next, the Iranians were railing about civil disorders in towns near the Caspian Sea, blaming that too on the Great Satan, rather than going so far as to suggest that they might have other enemies with far easier access to the Caspian sea-coast.

The shah knew his country well enough to know that the mullahs could be used to destroy most of the progress he had made.

They are accomplishing it in record time, forming a disorderly, sprawling economy, losing territory to the Iraqis, inviting further retaliation from the United States and flirting with the risk of subversion, a la Afghanistan, from their big neighbor to the north.

If they were not such fools, they would ship the hostages home immediately along with subject apologies to the United States for their gross behavior and a plea for U.S. protection.

They are not unaware of their own jeopardy. But the seriousness of it seems to be well beyond their limited capacity for understanding.

Mr. Carter would have fared far better with the mullahs from the very beginning if he had recognized them for what they Legislative change top story of 1980 — and the 1980s?

A poll has chosen the Illinois legislative cutback as the state's top news story of 1980, and the ramifications of governmental change could have a profound effect throughout the 1980s decade.

(The other top Illinois news developments of the past year were the conviction of fourth-term Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott on income tax evasion, the conviction of mass murderer John W. Gacy, the successful Reagan presidential campaign in Illinois, the election of Alan J. Dixon as the next U.S. senator, the summer drought that reduced the state's corn and soybean crops, the legislative bribery attempt conviction of a volunteer lobbying for passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, disastrous June and July wind and rain storms that damaged trees and farmland in seven counties, the heat wave that claimed 77 lives in Illinois, and winter-time Chicago developments related to school and firefighter strikes.

(Other widely discussed news included the end of a record-length strike against International Harvester Co., the fight over passage of a Soviet-style constitution to remain in the U.S., problems related to worker compensation, the end of service by the Rock Island Railroad, the acquittal of Commonwealth Edison Co. on alleged nuclear plant security violations, the conviction of suspected FALN terrorists, a power plant explosion in Pekin, an Amtrak derailment near Decatur by the Chrysler Corp. loan plan, a $20 million candy plant fire in Centralia, sentencing of political candidate Anthony Martin-Trigona for mail fraud, the libertyville murders of millionaire Bruce Rouse and his wife, and the political feud between Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne and Richard M. Daley, now Cook County state's attorney.)

The revision of the Illinois House of Representatives is relatively simple to describe, but this could prove to be deceptive. Until now, there have been 59 legislative districts, each choosing a senator and three representatives.

Effective with the November 1982 general election, each of 118 districts will select a single Illinois House member, and the senator will be elected in each of 59 two-district areas.

The change makes more difficult the always controversial task of reapportioning the state, since the re-election prospects of numerous legislators will depend on how the geographic boundaries are drawn.

Redistricting efforts will be made by the General Assembly during the next six months. Democrats will still be in control of the Senate in 1981, but by a margin of only one seat. Republicans will have a 91-36 edge in the House.

If the legislators fail to reach a compromise, a legislative commission will have to be set up to draw up an agreement. Failure by the commission would leave the task up to the courts.

How the new federal and state districts are drawn will not only affect the identity and caliber of local and state representation, but also the soundness of overall governmental decisions and the effectiveness of governmental functioning at all levels in the 1980s.

With this in mind, Quad-Cities law ahead with considerable confidence—but also with a couple of crossed fingers.

Man phones City replaces sewer president; is arrested

Michael Edward Hall, 26, of 2040 Fifth St., Madison, is being held in the Madison County jail in lieu of $20,000 bond for two counts of parole violation.

What led to his arrest at 10:55 p.m. Saturday was an alleged attempt to call the White House, demanding to speak to President Jimmy Carter, claiming Carter was not doing enough for veterans.

According to a police spokesman, Hall could not get through to the President and allegedly made a threatening remark on the telephone.

The U.S. Secret Service traced the phone call, and telephoned the Madison police for Hall to be picked up at his home for questioning.

In checking Hall's background police discovered the outstanding warrants.

City replaces sewer

The Granite City Street Department has repaired a sewer line break in a 12-inch line just east of Schnuck's Market, Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, according to Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portell.

Portell said the break in the sewer required pumping, which began New Year's Eve. Crews worked throughout the holiday and completed the replacement about 10 p.m. Friday. The work involved replacing about 15 feet of line, 15 feet underground, Portell noted.

Mayors council to meet Jan. 26.
The Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors will meet Wednesday, Jan. 26, at the Officer's Club at Scott Air Base.

Colonel Peter Land will be the host. The hospitality hour is at 6 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m. and the meeting will start at 8 p.m.

Colonel John A. Doglione, commander of the 375th AAW, will be the speaker. His topic will be "Wing Mission and Scott AFB."

CONDUCT CHARGE.
Lowell H. Kyle, 25, of 2436 Reed E. 24th St. was arrested there Wednesday on a disorderly conduct charge after an alleged telephone threat.

The Mississippi River level is forecast to be at St. Louis for the month of January and 2.7 feet at the Alton Dam tallowater. Low water conditions are causing some navigation problems in the southern part of Illinois.

Official census figures submitted to the president on the final day of 1980 list 11,418,461 people in Illinois, up from 11,110,236 total in 1970. The tally confirms the scheduled loss of two of the present 24 congressional seats to Sunbelt states.

The 5th Appellate District court at Mount Vernon has not yet ruled on a request by Mrs. Florence Farmer, 2521 E. 23rd St., that it overturn a June 1968 settlement between Granite City Steel and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. She alleges noise, pollution and vibrations and says the settlement failed to discuss violations in detail, failed to pinpoint the cause of violations, omitted references to pollution control equipment, avoided discussing the public impact, and failed to specify what will be done to avoid future problems. The pact calls for replacing a control device in the sinter plant.

A transportation task force recommendation against completion of the Interstate highway system is believed to jeopardize linking Telegraph Road in south St. Louis County with I-270 west of Edwardsville. Construction is under way or slated to begin in the early 1980s on 19 miles of new highway between the Jefferson Barracks Bridge and I-55-70, with completion of the $500 million task projected for 1985, but funding is not yet assured. Another six-mile section still lacks a construction timetable and cost estimates. The report, prepared for the Reagan administration, is being submitted to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

Patrick to seek Lions Lieut.-Gov. nomination

Lion Deputy District Governor Donald D. Patrick, a member of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club, informed the members of the Illinois Lions District I-G Cabinet that he will allow his name to be placed into nomination for the office of lieutenant governor next April.

Patrick made the announcement in a prepared statement at the I-G cabinet meeting held at Pittsfield, Ill.

Patrick informed the cabinet members, "After conferring with the officers of the Lions Clubs in my home community of Granite City, Madison and Pontoon Beach and with several members of this cabinet, I have decided to allow my name to be placed into nomination for the office of lieutenant governor at the district convention on April 5, in Carlinville.

"I will present my official petition and statement of candidacy at our next cabinet meeting on Feb. 15, at Palmyra."

Patrick, 33, of 3819 Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach, is a charter member of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club. He was elected as the club's third president in 1976 and has held the offices of director, treasurer, secretary, vice president and immediate past president.

Four are hurt in New Year crash

A crash at 1:25 a.m. New Year's Day injured two passengers and the two motorists. The drivers were Terrill Smotherman, 19, of 2440 Kilarney Drive, west-bound on 28th Street, and Carl Duke, 25, of 525 Fleming Ave., Mitchell, northbound on Madison Avenue.

Smotherman, charged with failing to yield the right-of-way, was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for left cheek cuts.

Michelle Mudd, 19, of 3013 Sunbury Ave., a passenger in the Smotherman car, also sustained slight injuries. Their auto after the initial impact hit the Clean Craft Cleaners building at 2801 Madison Ave.

The Duke pickup truck collided with a post after the collision. Their bus damaged to its front and to the auto's front and left side. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Battery alleged

Stephen Mitchell, 22, of 1836 Primrose Ave., was arrested during a disturbance at a wedding reception early last week at the American Legion, 1825 State St., and was charged with battery on a complaint signed by Pam Wallace, a guest at the reception.

She alleged Mitchell came to the reception uninvited and when he began drinking beer, he was asked to leave.

Mitchell allegedly refused, argued with several persons and struck the victim's face with a fist.

Several guests took Mitchell outside, where he allegedly argued with them and attracted a large crowd until police arrived and arrested him.

At the police station, it was discovered that a warrant was on file for Mitchell's arrest, alleging failure to appear in court on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was held in lieu of $802 cash bond.

Extensive construction here in 1980

Residential construction slowed in 1980 in this region, but there was considerable commercial, industrial and governmental building during the year.

Although the A. O. Smith Corporation closed its mammoth auto frame manufacturing plant in Granite City this fall, the Chromalloy American Corporation's Pre-Coat Metals division partly made up for the loss by constructing a plant within a new 427-acre Highway Three industrial park in the city.

Press-Record staff photographs from the past year's editions include, clockwise from the upper left: Resurfacing took place in July and August on many streets north of Pontoon Road and east of Maryville Road. Workers are shown applying asphalt on Sara Street near Lynch Avenue.

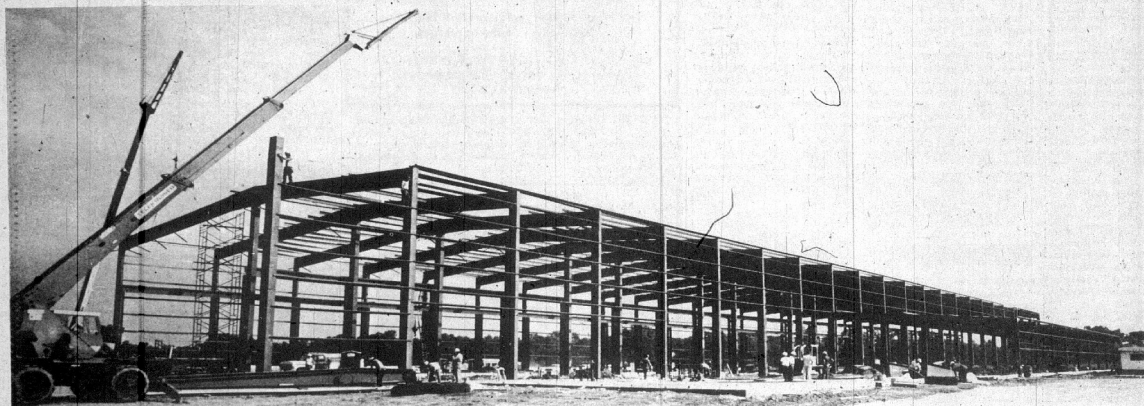

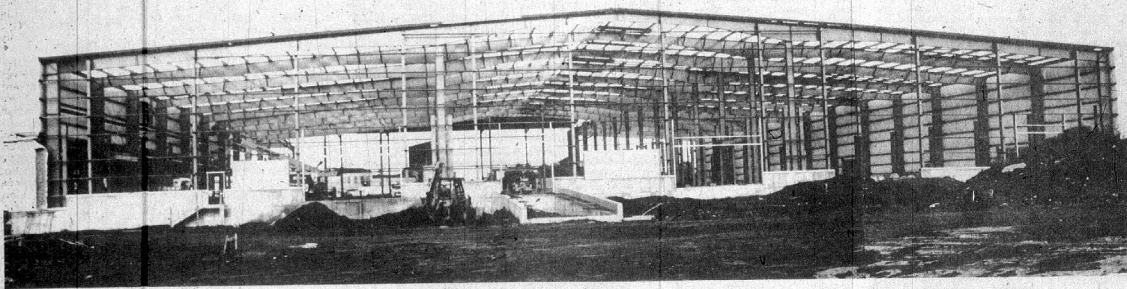

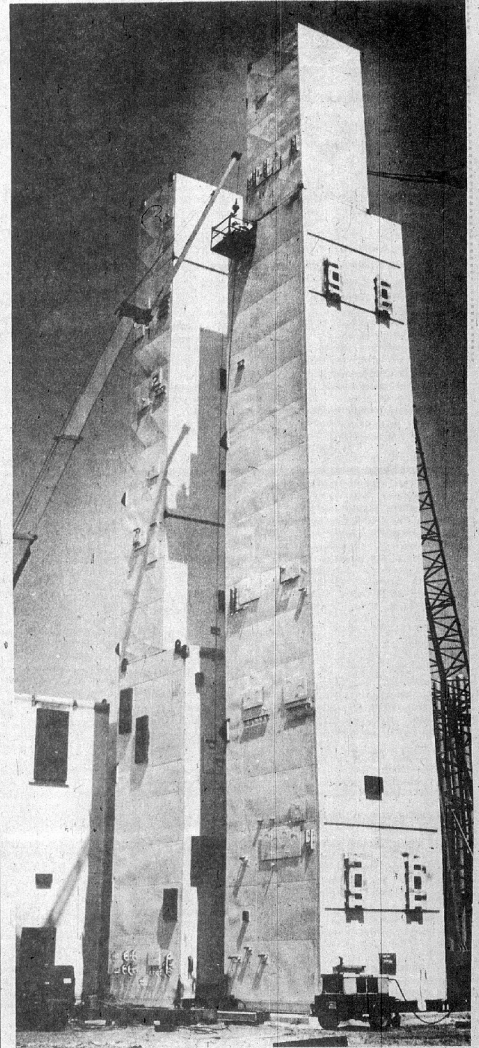

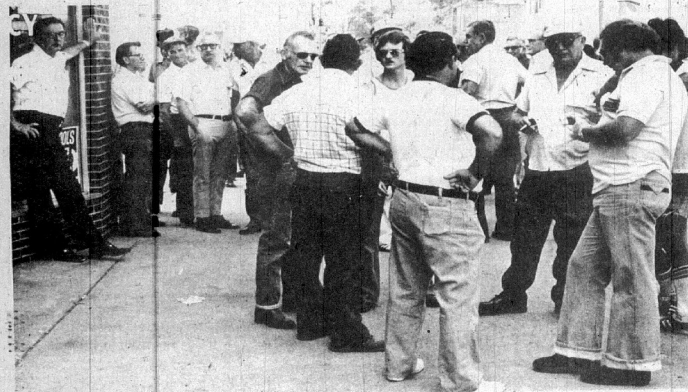

Towers 122 and 122 feet tall were constructed at the Air Products and Chemicals, Inc., plant on Monroe Street during the summer. They consist of "cold boxes" shipped to the Tri-City Port and then hauled through downtown streets. The new equipment increased gaseous oxygen production capacity here by 700 tons per day.

The $3,100,000 Pre-Coat Metals plant (bottom photo showing cranes) is pictured while under construction in June; ground-breaking ceremonies were conducted May 9. The building, now nearing completion, has more than 100,000 square feet of space.

A new finishing department for castings was built at the American Steel Foundries' Granite City plant, which is this nation's largest producer of cast steel railroad freight car side frames and bolsters. The photograph of the new 30,000-square-foot structure was taken in August. The finishing department facilities are part of a multi-million-dollar ASF building program which also includes a 20,000-square-foot materials storage building and nine sand storage silos.

Smith Corporation workers are pictured outside their union headquarters in July during a strike that was called over terms of a proposed new contract. The firm's board of directors later approved its Automotive Division's recommendation that all production end at the local frame plant. A key factor was General Motors' decision to phase out the use of separate frames in its car designs in the early 1980s.

Feeding birds a winter pleasure

By BOB WILLIAMS
School of Education-
SIUE

Walking downtown these days one hears all kinds of comments and complaints about the weather. Burr, it's cold outside, the wind takes my breath away, each comment pointing out the discomfort of the poor, frail human bodies are being forced to withstand.

Each of us then rushes to a heat vent, strips off seven layers of clothing, grabs a cup of something hot, and props our feet up to consider our pains. Poor mistreated babies.

Very few of us, though, have to face each day's weather as a threat to survival, and most of us never will. Luckily we don't live outside where we would be forced to find shelter in other ways. The sharp winds and bitter cold we so flippanantly step away from in our indoor air are a constant menace to the bird and animal life that winters here in Illinois.

Last week, my attention was drawn to a flock of birds, feeding on the dried and frozen crab apples that are so abundant around the office buildings of the campus. Some wise planner was able to foresee the time when these fruits might be one of the only available food sources for these birds.

These cedar waxwings may have been stopping to feed on their way through because I never saw them again. If any of you get a chance to watch the birds at one of our new feeders, you should see some behaviors that will indicate winter survival techniques. Birds fluff their feathers, enlarging the dead airspace around the bodies. By doing this, they reduce heat radiation loss which is sort of like putting on a couple of pairs of thermal underwear. Many birds roost in compact circles so as to share their common heat. One reason we find so many birds around our buildings is that they use the sheltered areas for sleeping roosts. All the crooks, corners, and crevices of our glassed-in day rooms are used each night by our fine feathered friends.

All birds have very special feeding habits. Some are seed eaters and have heavy bills for breaking or crushing seeds. These are the birds that are usually most abundant during winter. Some of these birds feed on the ground, but many feed high in trees or on the wing.

The birds should have hanging feeders or elevated trays. Most of our so-called trash birds such as the starling and English sparrows are ground feeders. These birds will drive away the more desirable species by their aggressive behavior at the feeder.

To eliminate this, hang pieces of bread or other food in bags hanging from branches or ledges. Placing the feeder close to a window helps to eliminate some of these pest birds.

If you want to experiment with this, just watch when you throw out food scraps. You should attract starlings and sparrows, an occasional blue jay, but nothing else. Put out a feeder with bird seed and you should have native sparrows, cardinals, mocking birds, juncos plus others.

Other birds need meat or insect substitutes eaten from something other than a flat surface. These birds will feed on suet or peanut butter which has been impregnated with seeds. These feeders should hang free or be nailed to a tree. Birds attracted to these feeders are woodpeckers, chickadees and nuthatches.

Other bird feeders that are easy to construct will help attract a variety of birds to your backyard. An orange or apple impaled on a stick will attract orioles or catbirds. Dried cucumbers or raisins held together by suet, fat, or peanut butter will bring robins, thrushes or catbirds. Coarsely ground raw peanuts will attract cardinals, nuthatches, titmice. Hang an ear of corn for cardinals.

Now that you have the idea, check the local libraries for additional information on feeding birds.

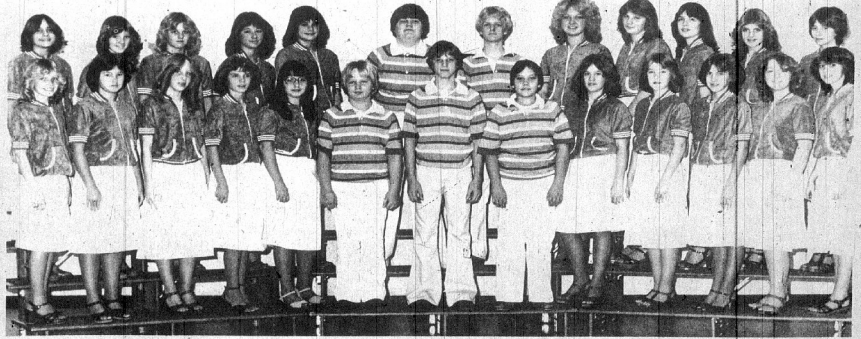

Many feeders can be cheaply and easily constructed, and you will be surprised how much fun it is to help these creatures "make it through the night."

Once you start the feeding process, it should be kept up until normal feed appears. The birds you attract will become dependent on your providing them food. If you stop, you might be responsible for their starvation as you would if you hadn't started at all.

Recipe for chickadee pudding for your bird feeders: Note: squirrels like it, too.

375 ml melted suet, 30 ml peanut butter, 250 ml oatmeal, 125 ml cornmeal, 375 ml cereal crumbs, 125 ml flour, 65 ml sugar, 250 ml bird seed.

Mix completely, put into feeder. Set in a cool spot to harden. Hang outside.

School costs still rising; jobless rate causes worry

Despite a steady decline in student enrollment, fewer teaching jobs, and the closing of more public schools, spending for elementary and secondary education in Illinois has increased during the last decade, State Comptroller Roland W. Burris said last week.

He said inflation is driving up the cost of school operations in much the same way that it is affecting health care.

The comptroller noted that the state's contribution to schools in the decade has grown three times faster (plus 150.6 percent) than the increase in local educational taxes (plus 43.3 percent).

The decline in public school enrollment has helped lead to a 121.5 percent increase in the total expenditures per pupil which climbed from $1,132 per student in the 1969-70 school year to $2,507 in the 1978-79 term, up $1,375 per pupil.

The comptroller's special report on elementary and secondary education was part of a regular monthly fiscal report which focuses on the state's current fiscal condition.

The Illinois economic picture as seen by Burris shows that persistent unemployment in the Great Lakes region generally and Illinois particularly is a growing concern.

Add the new credit crunch, and the likelihood of deeper recession increases as the new year dawns, he said.

Here are some of the key findings of the special report on education in Illinois in the last decade:

— Total general appropriations for elementary and secondary education in fiscal year 1981 are $1,278,000,000 higher than in FY 1971, an increase of 141 percent. Areas of greatest spending growth were special education, student transportation, and bilingual education.

— Following World War II, public school enrollments in Illinois increased for 27 consecutive years, reaching a peak of 2,373,659 students in the 1971-72 school year.

They have declined since then at an average rate of 1.8 percent per year.

There will be about 459,000 fewer students in the 1981-82 school year than the peak year (1971-72), a drop of 19.3 percent.

— What caused the enrollment drop? The key factor is a decline in the birthrate, but the study shows that out-of-state migration accounted for about one-fourth of the drop since 1970. The proportion of students attending non-public schools has increased slightly.

— School spending trends: Total expenditures climbed 95.1 percent from $2,351 billion in the 1969-70 school year to $4,587 billion nine years later.

Capital spending on facilities dropped to 5.6 percent of the total in the decade. Spending for instruction remained constant at 54.4 percent.

Operating costs increased to represent 22.6 percent of total expenditures.

— Since the 1973-74 school year, there has been a 7,527 (7.5 percent) reduction in the number of regular teachers, and the school closing trend continues.

The state's overall financial condition has been steady for the first five months of FY 1981 with an average daily available balance of $30 million and an additional reserve of $135 million in 10 special funds at the end of November, Burris said.

The Bureau of the Budget indicates the special fund for education in Illinois in the last decade:

A troubled Illinois economy probably means a slower rate of growth in revenues in the days ahead, he added.

The biggest worry at this time: "The job outlook in Illinois has been negative too long. A further recession clearly means severe belt-tightening."

While most state revenue sources are up, sales tax receipts for the first five months of FY 1981 are down 3.4 percent or $34 million from last year, as a result of the current sales slump and of tax relief.

ARREST FOR BATTERY
Larry D. Lindsey, 18, of 2249 Delmar Ave. was charged with battery for allegedly striking Terry Timmons, 2209 Delmar Ave., in the nose in the 2200 block of Delmar at 4 a.m. New Year's Day.

Sled safety tips

By MARY RICHARDS
Ill. Department of Public Health

"In the lane, snow is glistening...a beautiful sight, we're happy tonight...walkin' in a winter wonderland!"

This old song presents a lovely and romantic picture of snow. And to many people, especially children, the snow is "a beautiful sight."

To many people, children and adults, snow also means fun...building snowmen, sledding and tobogganing.

Participating in these snow sports can, however, cause injuries, and even death. Nearly 40,000 Americans are treated in hospital emergency rooms each year for injuries associated with sledding.

The Illinois Department of Public Health has some safety tips that may enable you to enjoy the snowy weather and, at the same time, cut down your chances of serious injury.

For example, a sled, toboggan or snow disc should be checked frequently for:

1. Split or splintered wood and metal parts bent out of shape.
2. Sharp, jagged edges and protruding rivets.
3. Condition of the protective guard or bumper on the metal front bar to prevent cuts and other injuries in a collision.

4. Easy steering without jamming.
5. Sharp-edged hooks on ends of runners.
6. Secure handholds and a place to tie on a rope.

When using your sled:

1. Walk over your sliding territory before using it; look for bumps, tree stumps, boulders, ice and bare spots. If you can't remove or repair these spots, avoid that part of the slope.
2. Supervise children who are inexperienced and using this kind of snow equipment. Make sure their first sliding is done on short, gradual slopes that are not cluttered with debris or bumps.
3. Warn children not to push, shove, or otherwise roughhouse while riding sleds, toboggans or snow discs.

4. Figure out ahead of time how to stop the sled or get off safely in an emergency. Learn how to roll sideways off sleds to lessen injury in case of a collision.

5. Don't slide through traffic intersections or across streets, even if there are no cars in sight. They can appear suddenly "out of nowhere."
6. Hold off the ropes on the top of your sled or snow disc to keep the ropes from slipping underneath and causing an abrupt stop.
7. Don't slide until the slope is clear of nearby sliders.
8. Move off busy slopes quickly when you reach the bottom, to prevent collision with other sliders.
9. Walk back up the slope along a side path out of the way of those coming down.
10. Never tie your sled to the back of your car. When the automobile stops, the moving sled can easily slide under the car, causing serious injury to the person riding the sled.

The state health department hopes that, if you follow these safety tips, you will be able to enjoy winter sports more by lessening the chances of serious injury.

Gerontology program to hold seminar
The Gerontology Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a seminar entitled, "Voices of Experience," on Jan. 14.

Kevin McCleary, assistant professor of speech communication at SIUE will lead the session. He will discuss poetry written by older adults and explain different strategies for beginning poetry writers.

The program is the second of a seminar series offered this winter free of charge for senior citizens in the Metro-East region.

The session will meet from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Mississippi Room in the University Center.

For additional information, interested persons may contact Lisa Pettit at (618) 692-3454 or 692-2212.

Nursing home Medicaid hike

Illinois Public Aid Director Jeffrey C. Miller announced today that nursing homes accepting Medicaid patients received a 5.7 percent payment increase, effective Jan. 1.

The increase represents an average of capital nursing and support costs for the 749 skilled and intermediate care Medicaid nursing homes in Illinois. About 50,000 Medicaid patients currently reside in the nursing facilities.

Payment increase will cost the state approximately $26 million. However, half the cost will be reimbursed by the federal government.

Nursing home payment rates are reviewed each year by the governor's Purchase Care Rate Review Board.

Canned goods drive succeeds

The final count of canned goods received during Fairmount Park's Christmas drive Dec. 16-19 totaled more than 7,000 items.

Free admission was offered to anyone bringing a food item to the track. East St. Louis Mosse Lodge 4 handled the donated food as well as Christmas bell cash collections at the gates. Money raised exceeded $600, which went to the Salvation Army, "Tree of Lights."

The Salvation Army will use the canned goods at its Granite City and Collinsville centers as well as at Camp Mihaska for needy children, located near Bourbon, Mo.

European tour by Lieut. Fuzessary; Okinawa next

First Lieutenant David Fuzessary of the U.S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuzessary, 1430 Madison Ave., spent the holidays visiting friends and relatives in this area.

He recently was promoted to executive officer of the Helicopter Battery, Camp Lejeune, N.C. He joined the Marines in 1977 after graduating from Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, with a Bachelor of Arts degree, and will complete his five years in the Marines after his year tour of duty on Okinawa. He will leave for that assignment in August.

Lt. Fuzessary returned to the U.S. in November after a six-month Mediterranean assignment aboard the U.S.S. Nashville (LST-113), a ship that carries helicopters and troops for assault landings. The ship decked at Naples, Italy for several weeks and at Tunis, North Africa, where tactical exercises were held. He saw the Suez Canal, Kenya and Israel, and in Jerusalem, visited the religious sites. He toured Bethlehem, Tel Aviv, the Golan Heights, Athens, Greece, Cologne, Germany, and Paris, France.

The vessel also stopped at Palma and Valencia, Spain, and crossed the equator where he was initiated in the "shellbacks" with ceremonies to mark the occasion.

The Nashville participated in rescue operations with its helicopters in Algeria, where an earthquake took place. The Nashville was escorted by four other ships, the Guadalcanal, Barnstable, County, Pensacola and Lamour.

His Marine outfit was the first from the East Coast to visit the Indian Ocean area.

World
Of MusicReborn 'Jazz Singer' has Diamond songs

By ROBIN WELLES

HOLLYWOOD — Al Jolson is a tough act to follow, but Neil Diamond is doing just that in an updated movie version of "The Jazz Singer."

Of course the Jolson image has faded a bit since he did the original "Jazz Singer" back in 1927.

But Jolson dominated the movie in the same way that the Brooklyn-born Diamond does 53 years later.

Diamond, a pop superstar (although the rock crowd has not jumped aboard his bandwagon), wrote and sang all of the 10 songs featured in the modern film. Naturally, they bear the Diamond trademark of breathless balladry — such as in "Love on the Rocks," "Summerlove" and "Hey Louise."

Critics have scoffed at Diamond for pomposity and some, comparing him to Dylan, called him a "nerd." But millions have found beauty in the Diamond lyrics — which is as good a reply as any to the critics.

The soundtrack of the Diamond movie now is being distributed by Capitol.

BOZ SCAGGS — Hits (Columbia) — Scaggs is the Texas-bred rock 'n' roller who later opted for something called blue-eyed soul but is more commonly called rhythm and blues. He and Steve Miller had one of the top psychedelic guitar bands back in the 1960s. His hits include movers like "Breakdown Dead Ahead," "Jojo," "Lido Shuffle" and "Dinah Flo."

JOHN LENNON — YOKO ONO — Double Fantasy (Gef-fen) — Lennon's tragic death in New York will turn this one into an instant collector's item, although he was just putting the finishing touches on another album at the time he died. The explosively temperamental Lennon was separated from wife Yoko for nearly a year, but they later reunited and did the "Fantasy" LP. It's rock and disco, even a touch of gospel, but not even a trace of Beatles music.

ANY WHICH WAY YOU CAN — Movie Soundtrack (Warner Bros.) — The only thing this album lacks is a vocal by that dizzy ape, but then Cliff Crofford sings "Orangutan Hall of Fame," so the omission isn't so bad. Clint Eastwood teams up with Ray Charles on one tune, and Fats Domino contributes "Whiskey Heaven." Good time had by all.

ROD STEWART — Foolish Behavior (Warner Bros.) — A funtime, rock 'n' roll extravaganza by ol' gravel throat. Rod doesn't take life very seriously so if you're looking for deep meaning on "new directions," turn elsewhere. He's a first-class entertainer who has few peers at putting across a song with maximum impact.

BANDED TOGETHER — II (CBS) — Another fine roundup of country songs on this one. Moe Bandy does his great "I Just Started Hatin' Cheatin' Songs Today" on this one. George Jones sings

is off the road

By THOM MEAD

HOLLYWOOD — The TV Mailbag:

Q. Whatever happened to Charles Kuralt's "On the Road" programs that were part of the evening news? — W.W., Walden, N.Y.

A. He gave up his widely acclaimed "On the Road" series to assume the top anchor spot on the "CBS Morning News," replacing Bob Scheiffer. Kuralt had been the anchor for the network's "Sunday Morning" news program since January 1979.

Q. How old is Danielle Brisebois of "Archie Bunker's Place"? — F.A.C., Seattle, Wash.

A. Brisebois is 11 years old.

Q. Just who is Rula Lenska, the gal in the Alberto V05 television commercials? — J.H., Lampasas, Texas.

A. Rula Lenska is still a relatively unknown actress in the United States but the Alberto commercials are changing that. Her real name is Countess Roza-Marie Laura Leopoldnya Lubienka, daughter of exiled Count Ludwig Lubienka, a Polish diplomat who was forced to flee his native Poland following the Communist takeover following World War II.

She doesn't want to go with the 'Flo'

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Never one to brood in idleness, Diane Ladd has recorded five songs and written a book while pondering her displeasure with "Alice," the television series she joined last spring when Polly Holliday spun out into a series of her own.

Diane was wooed into "Alice," not to replace Flo. Holliday's character, but to re-create the character she'd played in the film which inspired the series, a picture which had brought her an Oscar nomination.

"ABC was developing 'The Diane Ladd Show'," says Ladd, "but I was wooed away with an invitation to 'share the series' with Linda Lavin.

"I wasn't supposed to play a supporting role, and I wasn't supposed to be another Flo.

"I had lunch with Linda, and she was very sweet. I thought that together we'd agreed on the character I'd develop.

"But then two of the writers were fired, and three new ones, friends of Linda's, were hired, and the lines given me this year have all been Flo lines.

"Yes, I'm unhappy about it. And, yes, I've talked to the writers. I don't like to be put-down humor. It's not for me.

"When I came into 'Alice,' it was the first time an actress had ever gone into a television series to re-create a part she'd done in a film, and the first night I was on, the viewing audience went from 35 million to 75 million.

"I'd like a chance to do what I was asked to do when I was wooed onto the show.

"However, if they just want me to do one-liners from time to time, I'll do that, because I'm always thrilled to work. I feel that, if you have something to share, you ought to be sharing it instead of sitting at home."

Diane flew to Nashville recently to record five songs which will go into an album, though she can't tell you for which label.

"I don't keep up with things like that," she says airily. "My manager knows about them."

Her first night in Tennessee's capital city, Ladd went on stage at the Grand Ole Opry to say, "Hello" to the crowd which begged her to sing.

"I would have done it," says Diane, "but the people with me thought I was too tired, so I said I'd do it next time."

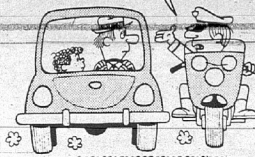

She calls her book "an autobiographical novel" entitled, "God, Give Me One More Minute." A major publisher has already made two offers for Ladd's maiden manuscript, but her lawyer is going to put it up for auction.

Adding to her accomplishments, Diane has just finished a film, "All Night Long," in which she plays "a Glenda Jackson role" as Gene Hackman's wife.

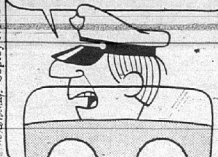

Other stars of the picture, to be out in March, are Dennis Quaid and Barbra Streisand.

Considering what J.R. did for "Dallas," not to mention for Larry Hagman, a new character played by Donna Mills may be just the ticket for "Knots Landing," the "Dallas" spin-off which has never come up to its parent show.

For Donna, a very nice lady in private life, has been cast as a man-hungry, power-obsessed vixen in "Knots Landing," the divorced sister of the straight-arrow car dealer played by Don Murray.

In the episode which introduced her to the series, Donna or Abby, according to the script, didn't show her talons. But the claws will be out in the future.

"I don't know whether I'm going to be as rotten as J.R.," Donna mulls, "but I will go after other people's husbands. I play a lady who, though not poor, would like to get richer.

"Her most redeeming feature is her honesty. When she thinks a husband is attractive, she tells the wife.

"She may not be ruthless, but she doesn't have a real strong morality, and she's manipulative."

Donna wasn't exactly cast against type when she was given the Abby role, because she's played baddies before. In fact, she was a Mafia hit woman in "Superdome" with David Janssen.

However, she did have to read for the "Knots Landing" part, "because they weren't sure I had a hard enough edge."

While she doesn't usually read for television assignments, she did this gladly, voluntarily, she was so intrigued by the idea of Abby.

"It's more fun to be the person who makes things happen instead of the victim," says Donna.

At the opposite end of the scale, she played a nun on the soap "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing."

"Nighttime drama is much easier than daytime," Donna believes, "unless you are the lead. Anytime you're the sole lead, it's murder.

"Soap opera work was very difficult for me, because they used me constantly. The nun was a very popular character."

Donna and Larry Hagman will work together in at least three cross-over episodes of "Knots Landing."

West Goes East

TACOMA, Wash.—A processed potato snack food, called Crunchi-O's, is finding a home away from its native Northwest. Bahman Dejbod, export manager of Nalley's, said the bulk of his company's shipments go to the Far East and to Saudi Arabia and the Middle East.

"People there are used to eating snacks in canister packaging, in contrast to the U.S., where most snacks are in soft paper or plastic bags," he said.

Nalley's is using 8-ounce Sealright canisters, produced in-plant. They are round, straightwall paperboard containers.

Popular Low Tar

—Low tar cigarettes, classified as those with less than 15 milligrams tar, now account for 43 percent of all cigarettes sold in the U.S.

Five years ago, the low-tar cigarettes held less than 10 percent of U.S. sales, reports R.J. Reynolds Tobacco.

Try leaving on a flight of fancy.

It's one thing to sit around and dream of faraway places. But when you decide to go, you've got to come up with a ticket. Wishing won't make it so. Saving will get you there.

One of the easiest, safest ways to save is to buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. A little is taken out of each paycheck automatically. And the Bonds will eventually grow into a first-class ticket to anywhere.

Nothing is too far. Tahiti, London, Paris, Rome. Even a trip around the world. Or just a long vacation on a Caribbean island. Anywhere.

So go ahead, take a flight of fancy. Then start buying Bonds so you can take a fancy flight.

Take stock
in America.

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yourself.

FAIRMOUNT PARK TO STAGE HARNESS RACING EXHIBIT AT ST. CLAIR SQUARE

Everything you've always wanted to know about harness racing but were afraid to ask. That's Fairmount Park's promise to you in their big harness racing exhibit being planned for St. Clair Square shopping mall January 8 through 11.

The exhibit will occupy more than 400 square feet and will be located directly in front of the lower floor entrance to the JCPenney store inside the mall. The main attraction, a recently retired fifteen year old trotter "Double Jeopardy", will be on display in a specially constructed stall. Owner Patti Nacci will be on hand to answer questions about "Jep's" career. His final year of racing was his best, when he won sixteen races out of 43 starts and earned $20,469. His owner at that time, Don Carter, hated to see Double Jeopardy retire but the United States Trotting Association prohibits horses fifteen years or over from racing. "Jep's" retirement party was held at Fairmount Park. While he did not receive the standard retirement gift, a watch, he did get a blanket to keep him warm on a cold winter's night and a carrot cake to celebrate the beginning of his new life of leisure.

As a token of appreciation for "Jep's" presence during the four-day mall exhibition, his old friends at Fairmount have ordered a brand-new blanket woven with his name.

Also on exhibit will be a one-of-a-kind miniature display of silks which has received national acclaim in horse racing circles. The exhibit appears through the courtesy of Jean and Bob Ferland of Berwick, Maine, who will also be on hand to explain their unique exhibit. Consisting of more than 500 five-inch silks sewn personally by Jean Ferland, the display also contains a miniature tote board which lights up.

You'll also see on display an actual sulky, talk to a driver dressed in racing silks and view all of the equipment that is part of the growing interest in this fascinating sport—from horseshoes to bridles.

178 ST. CLAIR SQUARE

There will be continuous video-taped highlights of harness racing subjects — showing driving skills and the equipment required. You can view "The Best of the Hamiltonians," the famous past harness races from the Illinois State Fair at DuQuoin, in addition to another interesting film on Bea Farber, leading woman driver in the U.S., shown in training and during actual races.

A coloring book related to harness racing will be given to the first 3,000 children visiting the Fairmount Park booth. And colorful wall posters of Niatross, the nation's world record harness horse, will be distributed.

The Illinois Department of Agriculture will participate with a display on the interesting subject of standardbred horse breeding and how it differs from thoroughbred.

The Fairmount Park harness exhibit, undertaken with assistance and cooperation of the St. Clair Square Merchants Association, is certainly an opportunity for people of all ages to learn about the fascinating sport of harness racing. According to Roger Smith, assistant general manager of Fairmount Park, more than 25 million people will attend harness race tracks in the U.S. this season. Fairmount recently added harness to their thoroughbred schedule which now provides a 12-month racing schedule for southern Illinois. The present harness season will continue until February 22 with racing Tuesday through Saturday, except February 22 which closes the season on a Sunday.
